

Master of Fine Arts Cultural Leadership Program

Course Review

As part of NIDA's commitment to evolving our curriculum and providing the best offering across arts and culture we are constantly reviewing our courses and looking at ways to stay at the forefront of education and meet industry expectations.

In response to the changing cultural landscape and unprecedented disruption faced by the sector over the last few years, NIDA has made the decision to review its Master of Fine Arts Cultural Leadership program.

As a result, there will be no student intake for 2023. During this time, NIDA will continue to plan for 2024 enrolments into a newly designed course that continues to reflect contemporary arts and cultural leadership both in Australia and globally. The MFA Cultural Leadership program is a hugely successful part of NIDA's learning program and we are very proud of the graduates who contribute significantly to our cultural landscape locally and abroad.

The current MFA Cultural Leadership program will continue and all current students will have the opportunity to complete their studies with the existing curriculum.

For all enquiries please email applications@nida.edu.au